

Evidence Outcome Table

Given our focus on local economic growth, we place particular emphasis on outcomes that most directly capture change in a local economy: wages, employment, and productivity.

However, our review considered 46 studies, and many of them look at other outcomes which may be of interest. This table records all of the different outcomes that we came across and reports the breakdown of results.

Where possible, we have put similar outcomes together, even if the terminology used in the studies was different: for example, we group ‘property values’ and ‘real estate values’.

NB: Results are classified as mixed when they vary across different groups, or across different ways of estimating the impact of the policy. See the review for more discussion.
